Judge Rummy in "Yes Dear"

Directed by Grim Natwick.

The Judge is playing the piano when his wife enters and cautions him not to leave the house.

He says "Yes Dear" and keeps on playing.

Wife enters saying "Alexander did you put coal on the furnace." "Yes Dear."

Later--"Alexander, did you feed the canary?" "Yes Dear".

Rummy's hopeful is playing with the parrot.

He has an idea. He teaches Polly to say "Yes Dear" and rigging up a dummy at the automatic piano goes out.

Wife discovers the deception and consults her ouija board to find out what he is doing. Wife sees him with a chicken at a restaurant. The Ouija Board tells her where it is and she arrives on the scene. The girl is asking the Judge if he is married and he asks if he looks like that kind of a fool when his wife swats him over the head with a potted palm saying

YES DEAR.

Judge Rummy in

BEAR

~~THE~~ FACTS Directed by G. La Cava. ✓

Judge Rummy accompanies his wife to a furriers where she likes a fur coat the price of which is $300. A stuffed bear stands outside. She leaves Rummy at the store while she goes home after the money. Rummy falls asleep and in his dream he has a wonderful idea to get rich by shooting bears. Instead of hunting the bears he is hunted by them and has many exciting adventures finally falling over a cliff with the bear on top of him. The bears finally take his clothes away and he is awakened in fright to see his wife dressed in a bear skin coat ready to greet him with a wallop.
